LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Heal. Educate. Lead. Provide. With this annual report, I have the fortunate opportunity to reflect upon all that was achieved by the PA Foundation and the profession on the whole in 2010. It was a whirlwind year that provided a glimpse into the future of what the PA Foundation is truly capable.

The PA Foundation's collaboration with Chevron Corporation, Epiphany Community Health Outreach Services in Houston and the Baylor College of Medicine PA program came to fruition in February with an official launch to serve the Burmese refugee population in Houston, a highly underserved community that deeply needed assistance as they assimilated into their new culture. Through a grant from Chevron, the PA Foundation coordinated collaboration between the Baylor PA program and ECHOS. The flame was ignited and soon, other local agencies, public health providers, schools and more wanted to take part in the effort. All told, over 600 members of the Burmese population were provided services. The Baylor PA students and Burmese health navigators were essential in making this happen.

Thanks to our donors, the PA Foundation was able to fund grants in 17 states around the country. From Washington State to Ohio, and Texas to Maine, your generosity is helping PAs make a difference in the delivery of health care. In an ever-changing climate, together we are proving that PAs are critical in meeting the needs of individuals and patients who need it most.

I extend a special welcome to Ellen L. Woods, the PA Foundation's new Executive Director. Ms. Woods joined us in May 2010 and has already introduced fresh ideas and enthusiasm that will drive the PA Foundation forward. You will begin to see many of these ideas implemented in 2011 and beyond, such as revitalizing the student scholarship program by increasing the amount of these scholarships to offset the rising cost of PA education, enabling the PA Foundation to make an even greater impact on the profession.

The PA profession continues to grow and blossom. With a projected growth of 39 percent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts physician assistants will be the second fastest growing health profession in the next decade. I can't wait to see what more our future holds and I hope you will come along with us for the ride. As always, thank you for your investment in the PA Foundation and your confidence in the work we do for the PA profession.

Sincerely,

Agnes Compagnone, RPA-C
President

GRANTS SUPPORTED

DOMESTIC GRANTS

We Can—(Ways to Enhance Children’s Activity and Nutrition)

Jessica Wallace, PA-C

Washington, District of Columbia

The 4-week program promoted healthy diets and eating habits, encouraged physical activity and improved parent education regarding healthy eating through an age-appropriate, family-based approach. During a 4-week period, participants learn how food and activity impact their weight and health.

Sanilac County Reach Out and Read

Rosalind Sally Moldwin, PA (Retired)

Sanilac, Mich.

This educational project provided dollars to expand Reach Out and Read in clinics and physicians’ offices throughout Sanilac County and across the U.S. At each well child visit, children receive a new, developmentally-appropriate and culturally-appropriate book from their medical provider.

Get PACKed

Kelsey Daily, PA-S

Butler University PA Program, Pa.

This project involved a unique combination of service and education aimed at improving the lives of the homeless. The students were committed to improving health care in their community by offering PA Care Kits—PACKs, equipped with health care supplies and an educational booklet, to homeless individuals.

Maliheh Free Clinic Diabetes Initiative

University of Utah PA Program

This grant was a continuation of the 2009 Maliheh Free Clinic Diabetes Initiative. It focused on the overwhelming number of uninsured diabetic patients who seek care at the Maliheh Free Clinic.

A Multi-Disciplinary Approach to Eliminate Sudden Cardiac Death in Young Athletes

Christine Werner, PA-C

Saint Louis University PA Program, Mo.

This project was a multi-disciplinary continuing education program to raise awareness and eliminate the incidence of sudden cardiac death among adolescents and young adults involved in organized athletics.

Health for the Homeless

Julie Dunham, PA-Student

South College PA Program, Knoxville, Tenn.

This educational program provided the homeless of Knoxville, Tennessee with information and counseling for the prevention and early recognition of diabetes. PA students partnered with the Broadway Homeless Clinic of Cherokee Health Systems. In addition, the project emphasized the importance of overall health promotion.

National Marrow Donor Registry Drive

Susan Cappellmann, RPA-C

PACE University PA Program, New York, N.Y.

The bone marrow drive was guided by the Be The Match Foundation through the National Marrow Donor Program. The registry drive goal was to register 1,000 potential marrow donors, drawn from the University population and the community.

Latina Health Fair

Barbara Sand, PA-S

University of Washington PA Program, Seattle, Wash.

The Latina Health Fair was organized by the Community Health Access Program of Sea Mar Community Clinic, and supported by local service agencies and health care providers. Student Providers Aspiring to Rural and Underserved Experience sponsored the entire health care portion of the fair.

Strides for Strong Kids

Lauren Brickwood, PA-S

Mount Union College Student Association, Canton, Ohio

The Mount Union PA program worked with the Alliance YMCA to begin Strides for Strong Kids, a 5k run/1 mile walk to support the YMCA's Strong Kids Campaign. The program ensured underprivileged children had the chance to stay involved in their community.

Healthy Choice Project

Katherine Carpozzi, PA-S

*George Washington University PA Program
Washington, District of Columbia*

Healthy Choice Project aimed to provide homeless men in a transitional shelter health education, planning, and coping skills central to making healthy lifestyle changes. The target was to reach seven to ten homeless men during each visit.

Partnering with PACE to Help Prevent Childhood Obesity

Denise Rizzolo, PA-C

PACE University PA Program, New York, N.Y.

Faculty and students from the PACE University Physician Assistant Program, in collaboration with a grammar school in the metropolitan N.Y. area, conducted four 30-minute interactive teaching sessions on obesity, healthy eating and exercise.

Childhood Obesity Prevention & Education (COPE) Retreat

Katherine Hanley, PA-C

Georgetown, Ky.

This project raised awareness of the serious health issues stemming from weight gain and obesity among children. It focused on children in grades 6–9 and their caregivers. Interactive booths highlighted nutrition, fun exercise ideas, personal and oral hygiene, co-morbid medical and physical conditions, and the psychological impacts associated with obesity.

GRANTS SUPPORTED

UConn Migrant Farm Worker Clinic

Cynthia Lord, PA-C

Quinnipiac University PA Program, Hamden, Conn.

The UConn Migrant Farm Worker Clinic provided direct patient care and health education to migrant farm workers throughout the state of Connecticut. Annually, between 300 and 500 migrant farm workers are provided with primary care, oral health screenings and health education by the UConn Migrant Farm Worker Clinics.

Child Health Day

Celeste Halcomb, PA-C

Hyden, Ky.

This health-education program reaches out to some of the neediest communities in America. It encompasses five schools within two states (Pennsylvania and Kentucky). First year PA students participated in teaching health-education stations to elementary students, as well as provide health screenings for children in Headstart through grade 6.

Research to Provide Effective Outreach to an Elderly Population

Joel Willis, PA-C

Springfield, Ill.

The goal of this research was to use trained college students to provide effective outreach to an elderly population at risk for falls, adverse polypharmacy and hypertension. The goal of this study was to answer two questions: Can students be effectively trained to perform such health service screenings? And, is the provision of such services to an elderly population effective in reducing the risk of falls and polypharmacy, and in identifying hypertension?

Fit for ME!

Teri Schrock, PA-C

Yarmouth, Maine

Fit for ME! is an innovative, collaborative program geared towards improving the health of overweight and obese children and adolescents through physical activity and healthy food choices.

E-newsletter for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Community

Casey Davis, PA-C

Westminster, Md.

Davis' research as a PA student spurred her passion to provide the deaf and hard of hearing community with health education materials in their primary and preferred language to improve health literacy and eliminate health disparities. She developed www.deafmd.org, a health education website for the deaf community.

GLOBAL GRANTS

Dajo Adult Education Center

*Catherine Hoelzer, PA-C
Southern Sudan*

The Dajo Adult Education Center, a new 2-classroom structure, opened up more opportunities for trainings and provided a comfortable learning environment for this community. The Center was envisioned to be used for Traditional Birth Attendant training, adult English classes, health education, hygiene and sanitation classes, Community Drug Distributor training and Christian discipleship classes.

Medical Mission to Nigeria

*Eucharía Iwuanyanwu, PA-C
Nigeria*

During the mission, Iwuanyanwu conducted an intense training program for train-the-trainer and used the last week to conduct public education in high schools, colleges and churches. This training gave the participants a chance to practice public speaking and plan cancer awareness campaigns. Hands-on screenings were conducted, including clinical breast exams, pap smears, digital rectal exams and tests for occult blood.

Africa Burn Relief Program

Jennifer Wall, PA-C Malawi

Wall was the recipient of the 2010 R.K. Pedersen global outreach grant. Wall had the unique opportunity to relocate to rural Malawi to fulfill the program's goals to assist its host hospital gain autonomy, expand education into the larger capital hospital, initiate a village-wide survey targeting disabled children caused by burn injuries and launch the first ever burn prevention programming for Malawi.

Nicaragua Mission Trip

*Shenandoah University PA Program
Nicaragua*

This was the fifth annual trip from Shenandoah University to provide medical care in Nicaragua. The interdisciplinary team provided health care and screening to approximately 1,500 adults and children. The focus of the trip was primarily public service. The team added an educational component to provide patient education regarding the importance of adequate hydration.

Quinnipiac University / Health Horizons International Medical Service Trip

*Quinnipiac PA Program
Dominican Republic*

Quinnipiac University's project provided medical care directly to the impoverished communities HHI serves, supported the organization's Community Health Workers Program and supported its research on the effectiveness of its community-based medical service trip model. The students performed triage, assisted with examinations and provided treatment in six different communities.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS

» 4th Annual Golf Outing in Memory of Captain Sean Grimes

The Picatinny Federal Credit Union held its fourth annual golf outing in the fall of 2010 in memory of Army Captain Sean Grimes, who was killed in Iraq in 2005. Captain Grimes' mother, Mary, is a retired employee of the credit union. The event raised more than $7,500 for the Captain Sean Grimes scholarship fund. Grimes graduated from the Interservice PA program at Fort Sam, Houston, Texas, in 2003 and was awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart posthumously.

» Memorial/Tributes Program Launched

The PA Foundation launched a memorial and tributes giving program in 2010, enabling donors to honor someone in their lives. These gifts are a way to recognize a birthday, graduation or special accomplishment, or a way to remember a lost loved one. When memorial and tribute gifts are made, PAF sends a note to extend your wishes and let that special individual or family know a gift was made in their honor/memory.

» Host City Prevention Campaign (renamed in 2011 as the Caring for Communities Grant)

The 2010 Host City Prevention Campaign grant recipient was the South Georgia Farmworker Health Project, established and managed by the Emory PA program, and led by PAs and PA students. The initiative uses a mobile outreach model to provide free outpatient care to approximately 1,700 migrant and seasonal farm workers and their dependents during their time in southern Georgia counties. This population constitutes a medically underserved and impoverished patient base. The program has a substantial impact on other communities, individual PA and MD volunteers and PA students.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE PA PROFESSION

LEAD

» PA Foundation/Baylor College of Medicine PA Program Community Health Navigator Program

A unique collaboration came to life in January of 2010—one between the PA Foundation, the Baylor College of Medicine Physician Assistant Program, the Epiphany Community Health Outreach Services and the recently arrived Burmese refugee community—a collaboration generously funded by Chevron Corporation. Six individuals from the Burmese refugee community were employed by ECHOS and quickly trained as Community Health Navigators to accompany PA students from the Baylor PA program into the communities housing newly arrived Burmese.

Throughout 2010, with the assistance of the PA students, applications for access to public health care services were successfully completed for 620 adults and 247 children. The Burmese navigators, partnering with the PA students, accompanied members of the Burmese refugee community on more than 1,000 medical visits.

» A PAramount Evening: Celebrating those who Heal, Educate, Lead, and Provide

In conjunction with AAPA's 38th Annual PA Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, PAF held its inaugural fundraising dinner to celebrate and honor AAPA PAragon and PA Foundation award recipients. Nearly 400 PAs and supporters of the PA profession came out to support these accomplished individuals. Throughout the evening, award winners shared stories and wisdom gained during the countless hours of committed service to their patients and the PA profession. Attendees walked away from the event inspired and motivated—hoping to make a difference back in their own communities.

The event was a huge success in bringing awareness to the work of the PA Foundation and its impact on the profession, in addition to providing a venue to thank its many devoted supporters. The second annual PAramount Evening awards dinner will be held Wednesday, June 1, 2011, in Las Vegas.

» PA Redirects Book Royalties to Benefit PAF

PA Dan Thibodeau, co-author of Physician Assistant Exam Review: Pearls of Wisdom, redirected 100 percent of his royalties to the PA Foundation. A long-time supporter and leader of the PA Foundation, Dan understands the impact that the Foundation is having on the future of the profession.

» First PA Elected to Congress

In a sweeping victory in November, PA Karen Bass, a Democrat, was elected to represent California's 33rd district in the U.S. House of Representatives with 86 percent of the vote. Bass made headlines in 2008 by becoming the first African-American woman to serve as Speaker of the California Assembly. Before she began her political career, Bass was a clinical PA who practiced for nearly a decade in the nation's largest trauma center, Los Angeles County USC Medical Center.

“As physician assistants, we are compassionate individuals that cannot turn our backs to the disadvantaged, especially in our own communities. By becoming involved, we can relieve some of the responsibilities of the government as well as the hardship that the Burmese face on a daily basis. In turn, we will learn about an interesting culture and make new bonds with other nations. By stepping up to help, we are setting an example for the medical community that may bring forward a more positive future for all encountered.”

“While I wanted to say goodbye to current and former colleagues and patients after 38 years as a PA, I didn’t want them to give me anything but a hug. It just made sense to choose the PAF as beneficiary in case anyone really wanted to express appreciation.”

—DENNIS FOLEY, PA-C, on his decision to choose PAF as the beneficiary of the generosity of his friends and loved ones.

» SPECIAL RECOGNITION

The R.K. Pedersen endowment was established in May 2005 through a donation made by Don and Kathy Pedersen's Family Foundation in memory of Don's father who was involved internationally throughout his business career. The Pedersens have been physician assistants for the past 30 years—Don as professor and director of the University of Utah PA Program, and Kathy as a primary care PA at the Community Health Clinics of Salt Lake City. The PA Foundation is extremely grateful for the family's continued support of the R.K. Pedersen Global Outreach endowment. Read more about the 2010 recipient, Jennifer Wall, on page 7.
